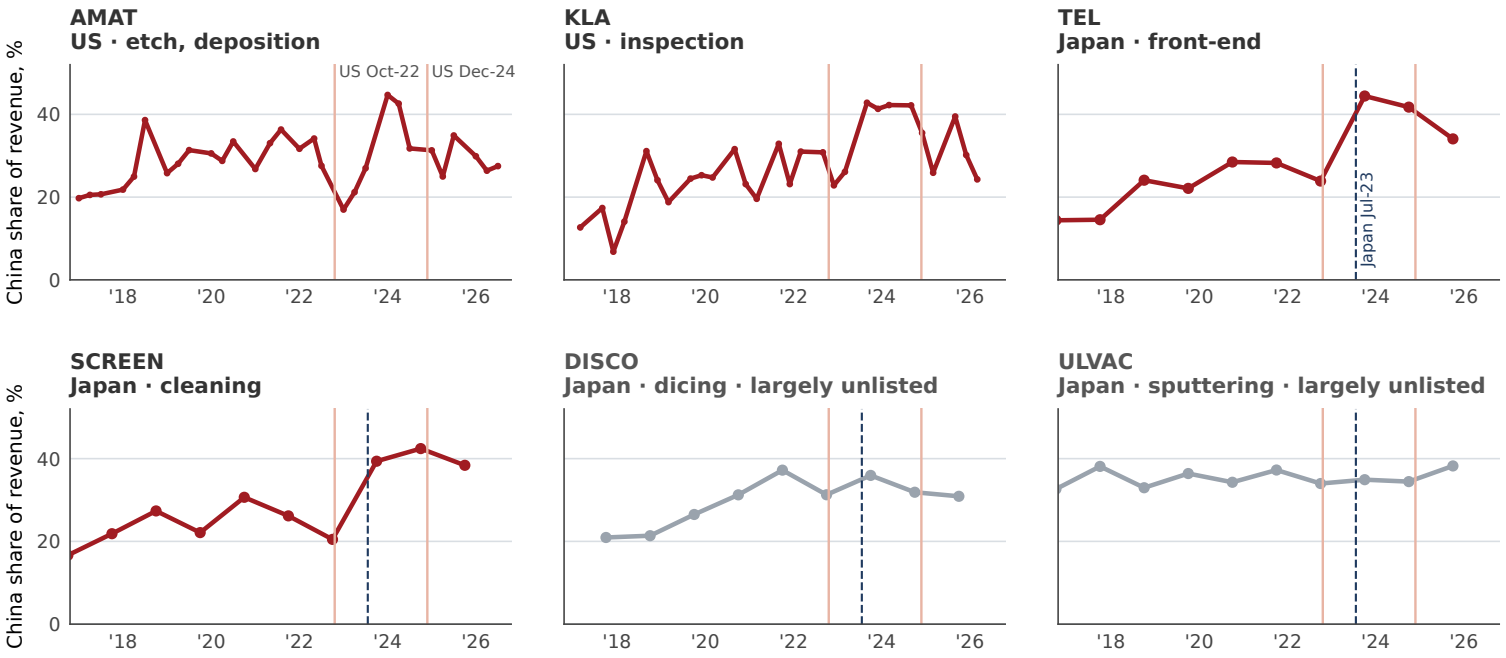
The rule is visible in the books of the vendors it named

Toolmakers whose products were listed show the same cycle after 2022 — drop, overshoot, normalization — on both sides of the Pacific. Two Japanese toolmakers whose main products (dicing saws; general-purpose sputtering) fall largely outside the listed categories do not. The level of the controlled vendors' China share did not fall; its volatility rose (rank 1 of 21 assignments).



Sources: SEC 10-Q geographic revenue by customer location (AMAT, KLA; quarterly, plotted at quarter end; fiscal fourth quarters are reported only in the 10-K and are not plotted); EDINET annual securities reports, revenue by region (TEL, SCREEN, DISCO, ULVAC; fiscal years ending March, each plotted at the fiscal mid-year, i.e. October of the preceding calendar year). Pink: US rules of October 2022 and December 2024; dashed navy: Japan's controls in force July 2023.
