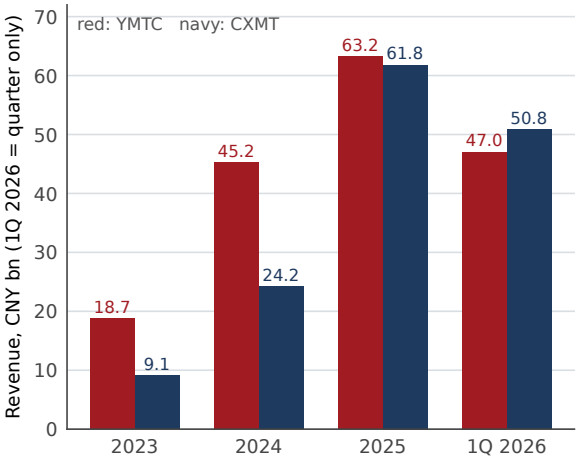
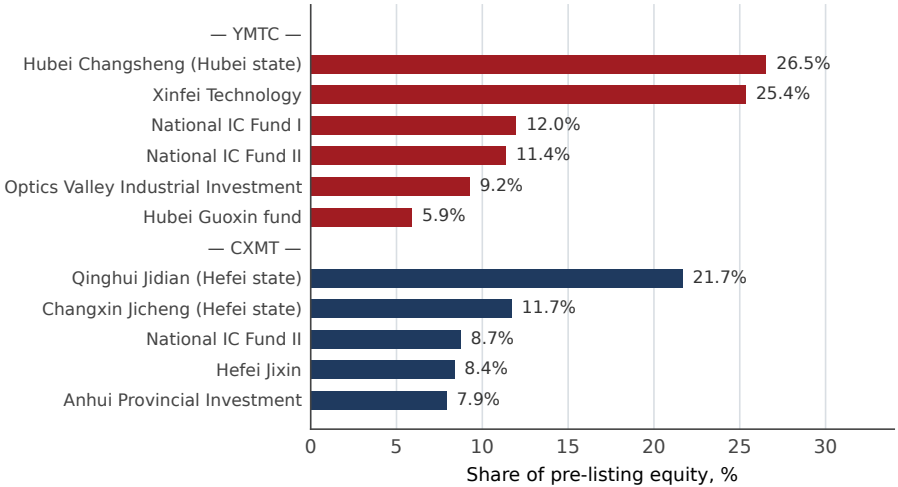
Who paid for the insulation: the memory makers and their shareholders

Both memory makers grew several-fold from 2023 to 2025 through designation (YMTC, 3.4×) and non-designation (CXMT, 6.8×) alike. Their losses in 2023 were carried by national and provincial funds that hold the majority of their equity; profitability arrived with the 2024–25 memory upcycle.

a. Revenue and profitability, 2023–1Q 2026



b. State-linked shareholders



Attributable net income, CNY bn (2023 → 2024 → 2025 → 1Q 2026):
YMTC −19.2 → +6.8 → +14.2 → +33.4
CXMT −16.3 → −7.1 → +1.9 → +24.8
YMTC weighted ROE −27.7% → 8.2% → 15.1% → 28.0%

YMTC: top four holders 75.2%, all state capital or national funds.
CXMT: state-owned holders ≈ 54% (Hefei state capital ≈ 37%).

Sources: YMTC (Changcun Holdings) and CXMT (Changxin Technology) STAR Market prospectuses and sponsor letters, 2026; shareholdings from the pre-IPO tables (YMTC filing of 21 August 2026; CXMT prospectus of 27 May 2026, state-owned holders ≈ 54% in total). Revenue in CNY bn; 1Q 2026 is a single quarter.